Our successful Blues Lotto was launched in 2005 across Cumbria and South West Scotland raising funds for youth and ground development at Carlisle United and other local sporting bodies.

Financial support has been provided to several local football teams including; Carlisle City, Gretna FC 2008 and Whitehaven Amateurs. Local charities plus a couple of young Olympic hopefuls have also benefited from our donations.

We are now delighted to be supporting award winning, Annie Mawson's Sunbeams Music Trust as they work tirelessly to bring musical therapy to disadvantaged children and adults throughout our area.

For just £1 per week you can purchase 10 lucky numbers for our weekly and rollover draws. Not only will you have a chance of winning the excellent cash prizes listed below but a percentage of your weekly subscription will be used to provide much needed financial assistance to Sunbeams as they deliver their "Music For Life" and "Music For Health" programmes to less fortunate Cumbrians.

All Blues Lotto prizes are delivered automatically, so there is no need to claim. Winners details are published twice weekly in the "News & Star" and available on our website.

ABOUT SUNBEAMS

Born and bred in Cumbria, professional harpist, singer and former special needs teacher, Annie Mawson used her experience to set up Sunbeams in 1992. In 2000 she was awarded "Cumbrian Woman of the Millennium Year" for all the hard work, most of it voluntary, given to the project. Many other awards have followed since, including North-West Regional Champion Charity.

During the last 12 months Sunbeams have made a positive impact not only on the 18,018 people in our area who have benefited from their support but also on families and friends who can see the improved quality of life that Music Therapy brings to their loved ones. Sunbeams' specialist musicians work in 65 project venues in Cumbria each month with adults and children suffering from mental and physical disabilities. Sunbeams also provide world class concerts to some of our more rurally deprived and isolated communities.

As demand has outgrown present facilities, planning permission has been approved to build the Sunbeams Music Centre at Redhills, near Penrith. Surrounded in beautiful countryside and with easy access from the M6 and A66, the Centre will provide specialist facilities for people with disabilities to enjoy all the benefits of Sunbeams Community Music Therapy along with training and recording rooms to support the delivery of Nationally recognised qualifications.

To find out more about Sunbeams please visit www.sunbeamsmusic.org

Nearly £1.3m still needs to be raised for the Centre to become a reality. Please complete the enclosed application form and join the Blues Lotto to help us achieve this goal and transform the lives of disabled people in Cumbria and beyond.
